JWZ WINS NASLA AWARDS

Las Vegas, NV – J.W. Zunino & Associates is proud to announce that it took home two of the prestigious Merit Awards from the Nevada Chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects at its “Pink Flamingo” Holiday Awards Banquet held at the Las Vegas Springs Preserve on Saturday, December 6th.

JWZ, and Project Manager Chris Langham, won for “Centennial Hills Park – Phase 3” which is a $23 million dollar park within the City of Las Vegas, in the northwest part of the valley. Many of the themed elements of this park highlight the prehistoric culture and artifacts present at this topographically diverse site.

JWZ, and Project Manager Shane Ice, also won for “Children’s Discovery Park” which is a special park at the site of the Lone Mountain Regional Park that was developed with an educational experience in mind for children of all ages – including specific play areas dedicated to mathematics and geography.

JWZ is also proud to have the winner of the “Student Award” working at our firm. Ms. Shavawn Coleman, in her final year of the Landscape Architecture Program at UNLV, has been working for JWZ part-time since May 2006 while completing her studies on a full-time basis. Ms. Coleman’s student project was entitled “Autarchic” which stands for “Self-Sustaining Park” – meaning that no outside influences like power and water are needed for the park to survive.
